NETWOVEN EXPANDS ITS OPERATIONS IN SOUTH BAY

Technology Leader establishes an office in Milpitas, California

PLEASANTON, CA, Oct 30th, 2006 – Netwoven establishes its South Bay office in Milpitas, California. The new office space will house Netwoven management as well as technology specialists. It further enables the Netwoven team in the south bay to utilize the facilities to improve collaboration between our customers, on-shore staff and offshore staff.

Netwoven’s Milpitas office is strategically located at the intersection of Interstate 680 and Route 237 providing easy access to the office during peak commute hours.

According to Niraj Tenany, President and CEO of Netwoven, “We’re very excited about our presence here in south bay. This is a very strategic location for us from a customer and talent standpoint. This will allow us to increase our customer service levels for our south bay customers. In addition, since a large talent pool lives in South bay, it allows us to hire more aggressively by providing new hires with reasonable commute time.”
