

F O R I M M E D I A T E R E L E A S E

FORMER MICROSOFT VETERAN JOINS NETWOVEN AS DIRECTOR OF SALES

PLEASANTON, Calif. – Feb. 6, 2006 -- Bill Wood has joined Netwoven as Director of Sales. Bill joins Netwoven from Unisys where he was Area Manager responsible for sales of Enterprise Solutions including data storage and ES7000 Server platforms for mission critical environments.

Prior to Unisys, Bill worked at Microsoft for 10 years holding a variety of positions that included Enterprise Sales Manager, Enterprise Partner Group Manager, Systems Engineering Manager, and Database Specialist for the Northern California district.

"I am delighted to be working with Netwoven," reported Mr. Wood. "They offer a wealth of knowledge and experience in key Microsoft technologies including Microsoft Sharepoint, Microsoft SQL Server, and Microsoft Biztalk. More importantly, they've successfully implemented many portal, workflow, business intelligence, and custom coded solutions for leading companies such as Microsoft, eBay, OSIssoft, Applied Materials, Altera, Home Depot, and Coca Cola."

According to Niraj Tenany, President and CEO of Netwoven, "Bill's knowledge of the Microsoft sales model, Microsoft value proposition and his in-depth knowledge of the Bay Area market provide us with an unparalleled opportunity to grow our business. We look forward to having Bill join our management team."

About Netwoven

Netwoven Inc. is a privately held technology and systems integration company founded in June 2001 by individuals from Microsoft, Oracle and Intel. The company's business model leverages development centers in the United States and India that provide Netwoven clients with high-quality implementation services with high return on investment. The company provides both off-site and on-site services and enjoys significant client relationships in the United States. For additional information call (925) 931-9390, or visit the Netwoven website at www.netwoven.com.